"Pukas" (shown left) this short-sleeved cardie with single button top closure features vertical bands accented with mirroring yankover and decrease ridges on each side. Subtle hand-dyed color CLAUDIA HANDPAINTS merino wool offers horizontal movement as well. About this design, KNITTER's says: "Ridges traveling the length of this sweater resemble puka shells hung on a string. Worked in soft pastels, the stitching is the star -- where the left half mirrors the right for perfect balance." We love the name of the colorway -- shells on the beach!

"Cymbidium" (shown left) set-in sleeved jacket with three-button yoke closure with lavenders and pale green shimmering together in two stunning slip-stitch stripe patterns. KNITTER's says: "Three colors and two slip-stitch patterns combine for a jacket full of texture and style. The soft shades of color are fresh and exciting." Worked in light weight cotton ultra pima...

"Pink Ginger" (shown left) Bright color can bring excitement to any wardrobe, and this jacket with its twin rib and seed-stitch patterns will rival any garden for a fresh take on color. KNITTER's says: "Clean lines and a simple double-breasted closure define this great spring jacket. The seed-stitch cuffs and center panel finish this twin-rib jacket beautifully." Worked in KOLLAGE YARNS "Temptation"...

"Grape Punch" (shown left) The soft periwinkle of this pullover is electrified with a hint of lime green. KNITTER's says: "Chevron ridges are interrupted by lace openwork bars. The contrasting lime accents add punch to the quiet periwinkle." Worked in NASHUA HANDKNITS "Creative Focus Linen", arriving later this spring...
