JANUARY 2020 UPDATE

Dear Stitchers,

It's time to celebrate not just a New Year, but a brand new decade! All of us at Kathy's Kreations wish you a happy, healthy 2020 filled with joy, laughter, love, and of course, yarn! As we welcome the modern "roaring 20s", we are looking forward to new fiber journeys, helping you to find exciting, creative ways to grow in your knitting and crocheting skills.

For nostalgia's sake, we looked back at what was happening in our January 2010 newsletter. Kathy had just been named by The Knitter magazine of the UK to the list of "Who's Who of North American Knitwear designers", (her Classic to Creative Cables DVD was a best seller, designs featured geometric-inspired sweaters with dramatic collars and cowls), and we were knitting magnificent mittens, eternity scarves, tubes, snoods and snowboarder hats. Fashion had clever gathers with deep pleats, folds and creases, while chunky winter lace styles were popular.

The yarns from back then are mostly gone, replaced by contemporary hand-dyes and luxurious fiber blends. New types of knitting needles and crochet hooks are on the scene, ranging from interchangeables with materials like graphite and stainless steel to advanced lightweight plastics. The Internet and YouTube have revolutionized pattern delivery and information access. Styles have changed, but, of this you can be certain -- the things that keep us cozy throughout the winter remain, knit and purl stitches are the same, crocheting still uses a hook, and wool is the best source of warmth for body and soul! Kathy's Kreations is on the threshold of celebrating 40 years in business and we can't wait to reveal something new during each month of the coming year. Stay tuned as our fun birthday year unfolds...

 GREAT NEW STUFF ***

Welcome, 2020! January is the traditional time to sort and organize our lives as we ring in the New Year and say goodbye to the old. Let's focus on new resolutions, new projects, and some bright new ideas. Kathy's Kreations is busy working on our latest collection of exciting yarns, stitching ideas and implements, plus new twists on some old favorites.

Let's explore designs to bring color to dreary winter months. Neck warmers, cowls and hats are often some of the first projects knitters and crocheters make, and it is always comforting to return to them. We've got toasty accessory ideas for everyone in the family -- there's nothing better than a cozy scarf and cap to keep out cold in the winter! Our patterns and yarns are perfect for Winter Wonderland...

You'll fall in love the moment you squish a ball of BERROCO "Catena" ($11.50, 50 grams, 120 yards, 94% extrafine merino wool / 6% nylon, CYCA #5). This merino yarn is worked up in a chainette construction to add loftiness and help avoid pilling. This yarn is ideal for mittens, scarves, and hats. Ask to see our shop sample, Yawl Hat (shown upper left, pattern free with purchase of yarn to make this project), sure to ward off winter's chill on the coldest of days! Add a McPORTER FARMS pompom puff to top off your hat for extra fashion chic...

We are kicking off the winter season with an updated Square register system at our checkout for your shopping convenience. In addition to taking cash, checks, VISA, MasterCard, Discover and American Express, we also accept Apple Pay and Google Pay. In addition, our gift cards have a new look (shown page 8, upper left).

2020 is about to get crazy beautiful! Emma's CRAZY BEAUTIFUL CLUB kicks off the new year, look forward to a new colorway exclusive to yarn shops for 6 months after each introduction. The January 2020 colorway was inspired by the tradition of champagne and fireworks on New Years Eve (shown page 5, lower left). Solid colors that compliment with the "Practically Perfect Sock" shade will also be arriving ($27.50, 100 grams, 400 yards, 80% superwash merino / 20% nylon, CYCA #2)...

We are pleased to announce that we will continue to carry DRAGONFLY FIBERS, which has transitioned to new owners at HOUSE OF WHITE BIRCHES. It's been hard to keep all the fibery goodness under our hat, but there are some creative new offerings coming this way. Although a few bases are being retired, "Djinni" will be re-formulated and re-introduced (with more cashmere, yum!). All the other bases will be continuing from the same source mills, so you can count on the same great quality and put-up from us. New owners Amy and Lisa bring years of hand-dyeing experience to this new venture and they are keeping over 37 beloved DRAGONFLY colorways that will form the core shades and plan to round it out with over 40 new multis and semi-solids. There will be some new bases in the coming year and we plan to feature DRAGONFLY FIBERS prominently in our Pittsburgh Knit & 'Crochet Festival booth this coming March. We'll keep you posted!

As a Madeline Tosh stockist, we want to share with you an exciting new project coming our way soon. To show her support of the new Madelinetosh / Jimmy Beans adventure, Melanie Berg designed a coordinating set of mitts, scarf, and beanie all in "Pashmina" Calligraphy (patterns individually available through Kathy's Kreations Ravelry Pro download, shown right). Each set uses four hanks of "Pashmina" and three dye options are slated to arrive soon: Poison, Crewneck, and, of course, Calligraphy. Please note that limited quantities are available, and stay in touch for news about this exciting arrival...

 TRIB-LIVE INTERVIEW ***

Kathy's Kreations was thrilled to be featured in the LIVING section of the Tribune-Review newspaper Sunday, December 29, 2019 edition. About Yarn Arts, staff writer Shirley McMarlin wrote: "About a decade ago, we started hearing about hipsters resurrecting retro items like typewriters, record players and flannel shirts, along with those perpetual favorite pastimes of grannies everywhere -- knitting and crocheting.

Google 'hipster knit hat', and up pop pages of images, descriptions, patterns and knit-it-yourself kits for sale. But scores of area devotees will tell you there's nothing new under the sun when it comes to practicing these time-tested fiber arts."

In addition to knitting guilds, enthusiasts "meet weekly for a Fun Friday Knit-Along at Kathy's Kreations in Ligonier, a yarn shop specializing in top-quality yarns, knitting and crochet needles, patterns, books and other accessories. During a recent knit-along where crocheters are also welcome), participants talked about the Laurel Highlands ranking no. 3 on the annual list of emerging travel destinations from travellemmings.com. Someone posted on the store's Facebook page, "It's because of Kathy's Kreations," said group member Vina McLeod-Rudolph of Indiana, Pa.

Owner Kathy Zimmerman will be celebrating 40 years in business in 2020, having started in a corner of the shop when the building housed her father-in-law's appliance store. When he retired about 15 years ago, she took over the entire space. "It started in one little corner and it grew and grew," she says.

Zimmerman says she started knitting in high school after she 'fell in love' with Irish cable-knit fishermen's sweaters. 'The cables all tell a story, like the ropes of the cables represent the fishermen's nets,' she says. 'I think it's wonderful that a sweater could tell a story.'

After a few years in business, she got involved with the Knitting Guild of Association. Mostly self-taught, she eventually began teaching classes all around the country and creating knitting patterns for yarn companies and magazines. Some of her patterns are available in the store. 'Customers come from as far away as Washington, D.C.,' she says, while Fun Friday participants travel from North Huntingdon, Johnstown, Leechburg and points in between...

Zimmerman says she's seen a change over the years in the types of yarns available -- leading to a change in what's being made. When she started, most yarns were a wool/acrylic blend. 'Now there's a trend toward better quality, more elegant yarns -- cashmere, silk, alpaca,' she says. 'Another big trend is the yarns that have been hand-painted or hand-dyed. It makes it easier to make things that fit in the color that you like.'

'That's one reason that brick-and-mortar yarn stores can compete against on-line shopping,' she says: 'People want to come in and see the color; touch it and feel the yarn. Things aren't always what they seem on the internet. Styles change, too. People are making scarves, hats and accessories instead of sweaters, along with capes and ponchos, less fitted garments,' she says.

Zimmerman says outside forces have an effect on interest in traditional arts like knitting and crocheting: 'When 9/11 happened, people were cocooning,' she says. 'One thing I noticed was that instead of going out, people developed an interest in things they could do at home.' There was also an uptick of interest during the area's so-called Snowmageddon, the frigid winter of 2010. 'People were staying close to home, so that's when we started our Knit-Alongs,' she says. The Fun Friday group likes to order in lunch, making it as much a social group as a creative one."

 SOCK KNITTING TIP ***

Our knitting friend Sig, an avid sock knitter, prefers to knit 2X2 ribbing on her top-down sock cuffs, and works a row of 1X1 cables every 10th round (shown lower left). This results in a nice fit around the calf, adds a decorative accent, and it makes it easier to count (groups of 10)...

 JANUARY KNIT ALONG (KAL) ***

It was hard to decide on which project to offer for our January KAL, so you have your choice of two this month. Let's Knit a Poncho by Diane Augustin ($7.00, Ravelry Pro download, shown upper left) is a beautiful poncho with three separate pattern segments for an easy cover-up, knit with BERROCO YARNS "Sesame", a unique self-stripping tweed yarn that delivers remarkable stitch definition and stunning color combinations.

Our second selection is Fragment Socks by avid knitter and quilter Helen Stewart ($6.49, Ravelry Pro download, shown lower right). The original inspiration behind the simple but sophisticated stitch pattern was actually patchwork, and that is where the name Fragment came from. Discovering a way to represent the piecing and textures of a quilt in a sock was exciting for Helen, but it turned out that Fragment also could mean a comforting piece of home to take take along on a journey. No matter what Fragment means to you, the socks themselves are smart and cozy, and look beautiful in a variety of fingering weight yarns. The cuff features a 2X2 rib, and the twisted stitch pattern is also ribbed. The finish includes a heel flap and gusset and a wedge toe, but designer Helen encourages you to sock improv and substitute your own favorite. The pattern is written for the magic loop method, but it is easy to adapt to dpns, if that's the method you prefer.

Join us for knitting/ crocheting every Friday during January 2020 at Kathy's Kreations from 10:00 am - 2:00 pm for the group projects, the continuation of previous KALs, or any other works in progress purchased here.  NO-BAKE LEMON LASAGNA WITH GOLDEN OREOS ***

Kathy made this special dessert for our last Fun Friday gathering and received rave reviews, so we are sharing it as an easy recipe for you to try!

- 36 Golden Oreos, divided
- 3 tbsp. butter, melted
- 1 box 3.4 oz. INSTANT lemon pudding (can also use vanilla, cheesecake or coconut flavors)
- 1 cup nonfat milk (Kathy used unsweetened vanilla almond milk)
- 4 cups whipped topping (about 12 ounces, from two packages, regular or fat-free)
- 1 cup lemon curd jarred (can substitute lemon pie filling)

1. Place 20 cookies in a gallon size ziploc bag. Seal the bag except for one corner so air can escape and roll with a rolling pin to coarsely crush the cookies. Pour melted butter into bag and press with your hands to distribute. Place contents of bag in bottom of a 9"X9" pan. Note: this is not a crust in the traditional sense. It is loose and not compacted.

2. Add pudding mix and milk to a medium-sized bowl. Whisk until smooth and let sit for 2 minutes. Fold in 1-1/2 cups of whipped topping. Carefully spread over cookies in pan.

3. Crush remaining cookies in another ziploc bag. Sprinkle half over pudding. Reserve the rest for topping.

4. Mix lemon curd gently with 1 cup of whipped topping. Spread over pudding.

5. Spread remaining whipped topping over the curd mixture. Sprinkle with remaining cookies. Cover and refrigerate at least 8 hours before serving.

 FASHION REPORT ***

The Winter 2109-2020 NeedleArts Trends Report by Heather Zoppetti of TNNA is out, and "extravagance" is the word to describe it. Heather writes: "The 2020 Pantone Color of the Year has been announced: Classic Blue. (Ed. note: shown right in Emma's Yarn "Trendy AF"). This calming color is sure to bring peace of mind and a relaxing feel to any wardrobe or home. You'll see it in everything from fashion to furnishings to yarn. It's reminiscent of classic blue jeans, and neutral enough to go with just about everything. Plus, it adds just enough color.

© Copyright 2020
Emma's Yarn

The other trends I've identified for the season extend much of what we saw in the fall -- extravagance.

NECKLINES: All eyes are on the yoke. We will see more focus on necklines throughout the winter. Turtlenecks, funnel necks and colorwork take center stage. Keep it warm with knitted sweaters featuring these elements. Or, jazz it up with a colorful yoke, which has already been a staple within our community -- knitters are ahead of the fashion industry on this one!

TEXTURE: This season, everything is highly textured. This goes for garments as well as home decor. I'm talking about mohair, tweeds and boucles. Think high-fashion yarns that hark back to the early 2000s. These look great both knitted and woven. I'm not saying those funky scarves are coming back, but maybe some of those fun yarns will make an appearance. How can you use more fun yarn in your work to add some texture?

COLOR: Bright colors continue to dominate. You will see all forms of color play this season. Pops of neon, bold all-over color, color blocking used in creative ways, and loud prints both in florals and other graphic design patterns. Color is where it's at. Even neutrals are livened up this winter with a contrasting dash of brightness, perhaps through an accessory. As crafters, this is a glorious thing as we are often first attracted to the colors of a yarn for a project. Don't be afraid of color this winter, embrace it!"
